

COLBY CLUB ENTERTAINS BIXLER

New Head Of Mayflower Hill College Tells Of Present And Of Future Plans

With Colby's new president, Julius Seelye Bixler, as honor guest, the Knox County Colby Club met for dinner Wednesday night at The Copper Kettle. At table besides the speaker were President Horace Maxcy of Thomaston, Principal and Mrs. Joseph E. Blaisdell, Supt. and Mrs. Robert Lunt, Dr. and Mrs. John Smith Lowe, Mrs. Frances Quint Lowe, Rev. and Mrs. Alfred G. Hempstead, Mr. and Mrs. E. Carl Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Pitts and John M. Richardson, Colby Alumni Council member.

Dr. Bixler's first visit to the club proved most enjoyable with his report on wartime Colby and her plans for a great future proving of intense interest. He was most optimistic about the coming collegiate year which finds Colby's enrollment close to 400, mostly young women of course, but a workable student body.

The loss of the government aviation student branch was a severe blow financially but the unexpectedly large Freshman Class coupled with the response of the Alumni have solved the problem. The faculty has suffered losses to the war effort but all departments are being maintained in full essentials and careful and far reaching plans worked out for Colby's academic future, taking into full account the lesson being taught by the war, especially in the field of modern languages.

Dr. Bixler told of the war-time difficulties besetting a Colby operating partly on its old site where all laboratories are located and on the beautiful Mayflower Hill campus partially completed. He spoke enthusiastically of the early completion of the Mayflower Hill buildings after the end of the war. It was of interest to note that the

Fourth Of July Plans

Rockland's War Honor Roll
Will Be Dedicated Anew
—A Parade

Fourth of July observance plans are well under way. The principal feature will be a dedication of Rockland's War Honor Roll. Announcement was made at meeting of the committee Tuesday night, that the address would be given by Rev. John Smith Lowe, D. D., and the invocation would be by Rev. Archie D. Gillis.

Tentative plans include a parade from the old Gen. Berry Engine House to Rankin Block and back to the War Honor Roll board; and the dedication ceremonies, followed by a band concert.

Members of the committee at meeting Tuesday night were: Everett S. Blithen, chairman; Van E. Russell, Albert C. McLoon, John M. Pomeroy, Lucius E. Jones, Milton A. Benner, Ralph A. Smith, size of the Freshman women's group will lead to the opening of Foss Hall and probably Dutton House as well.

Two sidelights of great importance to the rounding out of the present day Colby picture held strong appeal for the speaker. First, a series of ten lectures by national figures, sponsored by Dr. Averill of Waterville, a project of inestimable value to the cultural life of the student body, and a 50-piece symphony orchestra embracing both town and gown with all sorts and conditions of music minded persons participating. This last organization has bound college and city by close ties, and interest is so strong that over 500 Waterville citizens braved a blizzard last December to hear a concert presented at the new campus. A wave of applause greeted Dr. Bixler's fine tribute to former Colby President Franklin W. Johnson whose interest in the college has never waned and who works closely with the present executive. The outstanding find of the Colby faculty for 1943-44 has been the remarkable Sam Green, historian and art authority with few peers in America. His Art Institute the past Winter was a high light of the academic year. Mr. Green plans to be in Rockland later in the Summer studying the coastal sailing ships and steam boats, at which time the Knox County Colby Club plans a lobster picnic.

Though sharply curtailed due to the necessary early presence of Dr. Bixler at the commencement exercises of Rockland High School where he was speaker, the Colby Club adjourned with the feeling that Colby's future was safe in Dr. Bixler's hands.

Mayor Veazie Awards One To His Own
Daughter—Address By Colby College
President

Dr. Julius Bixler, president of Colby College, gave the commencement address, when the Class of 1944, Rockland High School, graduated in the Community Building Wednesday night.

Speaking on the theme of The Direction Things are Taking, Dr. Bixler told members of the class that they would go on with education, whether in college, industry or war, and that they were passing now from books to learning which could be described as emotional. Referring to the tensions of society at the present time, he told the class that they would have a shared experience on a grand scale, which would of necessity include some suffering until peace comes. He urged that no one listen to those who believe in isolation and to those who do not believe that human nature can be changed.

Dr. Bixler prefaced his thoughtful and inspiring address with a few relevant humorous stories, told in a genial manner.

Lincoln E. McRae, Jr., class marshal, led the class to their seats, marching to the "Flag of Victory," played by the High School orchestra, directed by Arthur Cain. Following which Rev. Charles A. Marshall gave the invocation.

The salutatory by Arlene Fickett and the valedictory by Onni Kangas were delivered in a faultless manner. Abstracts of these appear below:

Valedictory: Onni Kangas

"Education and Tomorrow" was the subject of the valedictorian's essay, top honor of the commencement.

Herbert R. Mullen, Edgar L. Newhall and Augustus B. Huntley.

Herbert R. Mullen was appointed marshal of the parade, details of which will be announced in the June 30 issue of The Courier-Gazette.

ON "SIDEWALK RATIONING"

The members of all panels of the Rockland O. P. A. Office have agreed on the principle of not discussing Board matters and rationing at their places of business or on the street.

This decision is regrettably arrived at through necessity because every member of the Board has heavy business cares which are interfered with by constant public intercession. It should be understood that all members serve without pay as a community obligation.

If the action of the public continues to interfere with the business or the individual members of the Board it will be necessary for several to resign which could well bring about rationing from Augusta, a condition every person with the interest of this section at heart hopes to avoid.

The Rockland office, 421 Main Street, is open to the public daily, from 9 to 3 except WEDNESDAY, all day closing.

I have highest respect for Sam Conner's political skill but when he said in Tuesday's issue of the Lewiston Journal that Hector G. Staples had been nominated for Congress by the Second District Democrats he was a bit off his trolley. The real nominee was David H. Staples of Waterville. We are keeping "Hee" right where he belongs.

Who said Snow's yard in Rockland was the only Snow Shipyard? A boat was launched at New Guinea in May, the designer and master builder and part owner being none other than Bertram G. Snow, M. M. 3c, of the 102d Battalion of the Seabees. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Snow of Rockland and the great-grandson of the late Israel L. Snow, who started the Snow shipyards in 1865.

I don't like to call any man a liar, especially when I am not familiar with his dimensions, but when the Weather Man declared that Summer began Wednesday he must have had some other year in mind, or was guilty of gross misinformation, for Wednesday broke dismal and drizzly, almost cold enough to wear a cane, as Eddie Ingraham used to say. And it followed three other days of same calibre. And the parched ground must now be soaked four feet deep if the water did not freeze before it got there. There may not have been any frosts in the cranberry bogs, but Winter overcoats have been in perfectly good form during the past week.

SOMETHING SINGS

Let me go wherever I will,
I hear a sky-born music still;
It sounds from all things old,
It sounds from all things young,
From all that's fair, from all that's foul,
Peals out a cheerful song.
It is not only in the rose,
It is not only where the rainbow glows,
Nor in the song of woman heard,
But in the darkest, meanest things,
There always, always, something sings.
'Tis not in the high stars alone,
Nor in the cup of budding flowers,
Nor in the red-breast's milky tone,
Nor in the bow that smiles in showers,
But in the mud and scum of things,
There always, always, something sings.

Book Review

By K. A. F.

Born in Battle. By Capt. Rowan T. Thomas. Published by John C. Winston Co., Philadelphia.

This brilliant young author was an eye witness to all of the events described in this book and this story, like the author, had many narrow escapes—even some of the pages were lost in Egypt and others in India, also in the African sandstorms. The main manuscript which had been left in Cairo by Captain Thomas was miraculously saved and returned to the United States by a fellow aviator.

This is really a great tale because of all the circumstances of its building. His fighting ability mingled with his prowess as a story teller, creates desire for more. Told in a manner you and I and the man next door can easily understand. A bomber pilot Capt. Thomas gives the human story in fine detail of the 200,000 mile bombing odyssey made by 109 men of the 513th Bombardment Squadron. One of the really worth reading books of this war for air information.

[EDITORIAL]

Storm-swept Maine cast approximately 90,000 votes in the Primary election Monday, and while this is not a large percentage of the total vote it shows the results of the hard work done by the three candidates for Governor. Horace A. Hildreth, winner of the contest, and Roy L. Fernald, thrice a loser in the pursuit of the gubernatorial nomination, began their campaigns early and worked unceasingly until the last minute. F. Arline Richardson, while the first to announce his candidacy, became almost an eleventh hour campaigner, handicapped by lack of funds but honored for his persistency in declining any support which might have placed him under obligations, had he been nominated and elected. Those who went to the polls in his behalf did so voluntarily, with surprising results in many quarters. That he was not lacking in volunteer assistants is shown in the case of St. George, which cast 156 votes for Richardson as against 47 for the other two candidates. This was due in a great measure to the hard work done by his close friend Alfred C. Hocking. The Hildreth campaign benefited from the skilled work of Sheriff Ludwick, while the Fernald lieutenants, Aldermen Lane and Perry, worked diligently. The Courier-Gazette fully agrees with the Press Herald which, in its election story Wednesday morning, said—

Out of the returns from the gubernatorial contest, some political quarters read indications that Richardson was a "potentially powerful" candidate. They pointed out that while Hildreth and Fernald had both conducted extensive and elaborate campaigns, the former Grange official had done scarcely any campaigning until the final days of the contest. They expressed the belief that any candidate who can poll a third the vote of the contest winner "without half trying" is a man who bears watching.

In the selection of Mr. Hildreth for Maine's standard-bearer in the September election the voters have chosen "a man of affairs," active in numerous organizations which have to do with the State's welfare, and by virtue of having served as President of the Senate being in close touch with legislative action. A fine, upstanding man in every sense of the word he should poll an extremely heavy vote in the next State election.

Unless the Republican party faces the problems of the present frankly and courageously and nominates a candidate with the mind and skill to make the party's principles effective it cannot possibly win next November. We happen to believe just as strongly that if it rejects the advice of the trimmers and chooses a candidate for his positive qualities of known convictions and demonstrated capacity, it ought to win and will win.

One source of that victory will be discontent with the Roosevelt administration—obviously. The country is becoming increasingly impatient toward a government of aging and tired men, who do not know their own minds and who are as incapable of clear action in domestic affairs as in foreign. The voters want an end of personal whim and the re-establishment of government by clear rules and impartial boards. They want a President who knows how to organize and to administer. These are hard facts which the polls support. But in order to throw President Roosevelt out, they have no thought of placing in the White House an Old Guard Republican administration that has forgotten nothing and learned nothing in the last 12 years. Why is the party in its present state of healthy revival? Because a group of young and husky Republican Governors have come to the fore, full of energy and eager for progress. These new and vigorous leaders will overwhelm any attempt by the Old Immovables to block progress. They will insist that the plans on foreign affairs as on domestic affairs as on domestic affairs be written as of today, not as of some dim past. We are especially glad that Mr. Willkie's articles are available for consideration at Chicago. In our judgment, they belong in the great tradition of the Republican party. —Herald Tribune.

The Republican National Convention does not open until next Monday but a vast amount of log-rolling is being done among the early arriving delegates, and every effort is being made to bolster the stop-

Dewey movement. Supporters of the other candidates may succeed in prolonging a nomination until the third ballot, but if they succeed in preventing Dewey's nomination it will be one of the political marvels of the century. Meantime the framers of the party platform are having their headaches.

The straw vote in Indiana, as compiled by the Gallup Poll, gives another indication of how the country is likely to go in November. It shows that 56 percent of the voters interviewed favor Gov. Dewey while 44 percent favor Roosevelt—a decline of 13 percent in the President's strength in the Hoosier State since 1936.

Keep Supply Flowing

That's What The Fifth War Loan Bond Sale Implies

"There may be some who have the comfortable feeling that when we have bought War Bonds to equal the cost of a jeep, plane or PT boat that the shiny new equipment we have sponsored will go on knocking out the enemy until the war is over," declared the Maine War Finance Committee.

Continuing the War Finance Committee said, "In his dispatch of June 11, the famous commentator Ernie Pyle, with the American Forces in France, has pointed out the tremendous cost of invasion in equipment which is hit or rendered useless within a very short time."

Part of Pyle's statement tells of "the gigantic and pitiful litter of wreckage along miles of shore line. Submerged tanks and upturned boats and burned trucks and shell shattered jeeps—and sad little personal belongings—strewn all over on these bitter sands."

"This means," declared the Committee, "that a constant sale of 5th War Loan Bonds must be maintained to keep the supply of necessary equipment flowing to the front lines in order to assure victory in the shortest possible time."

TIME MAGAZINE
 TOLD WHY

"Old Times on Capitol Hill could not recall a similar event. All of the Congresswomen, the entire delegation from Maine and about 50 members of the press had been invited. The Speaker and other House leaders had been asked to drop in. The place: the Capitol dining room of the Speaker of the House. The occasion: a luncheon given by Maine Congresswoman Margaret Smith for Mrs. Elizabeth May Craig, Washington correspondent for 17 years and now the new President of the Women's National Press Club. . . . A Washington correspondent for five Maine newspapers . . . May Craig keeps people so well posted on national affairs that newspapermen have quipped: 'As May goes, so goes Maine.' . . . Those who attend Presidential press conferences know May Craig as the small, pert woman who always gets to the front row, always asks deft, roundabout questions in a direct manner. When President Roosevelt's reticence in disclosing his Third Term plans had the U. S. in a dither, May Craig noticed some of his Naval prints had been removed from the conference room walls. Instead of asking the direct Third Term question that seethed in many press minds, May looked up quizzically at the wall's blank spaces, wondered aloud if the pictures had been sent to Hyde Park. . . ."

... Elizabeth May Craig Is SO POPULAR With Our Readers!

We take pride in the fact that Elizabeth May Craig is exclusive Washington correspondent for our newspapers. Her discerning column, INSIDE IN WASHINGTON, is one of the many distinguished daily features enjoyed by our readers.

A Farmyard Mystery

And How It Was Successfully Solved Down At "The Crags"

Major Talbot Aldrich, long-time Summer resident of Tenant's Harbor, is a farmer or sorts, likewise a poultryman, and when 48 handsome, well-mannered Plymouth Rock Chickens took up their residence at "The Crags" his pride was a matter to behold. The chickens were blessed with the healthy appetites and along with their daily bill of fare ate everything lying around loose out of doors. And grew apace.

But Major Aldrich is not gifted with the prophetic powers which are attributed to the seventh son of a seventh son, and could not guess what was about to horn in. He arose with the Summer sun the other morning and went out to see how the "Rocks" were progressing. Fancy his dismay when he discovered the mangled bodies of 18 chickens strewn over the premises—victims of assault and battery in the night time.

Major Aldrich is likewise a man of action. He immediately procured four stout traps and set them in a manner calculated to attract the murderous intruders.

Next morning he found that three of the traps had been sprung but the M. I.'s had made a safe getaway. The fourth trap had disappeared completely. It was found later in the bushes and fastened securely in it was the toe of what do you think?

A horned owl, which, upon being measured for its interment was found to have a 51-inch wing spread.

The traps were reset, and at 9:30 p. m. one of them had gathered to its fold a second owl, much smaller than the first, which had failed to profit by the experience of its elder.

Major Aldrich shot him where he lay, and today the 30 remaining Plymouth Rocks are living the life of Riley, and training for the Thanksgiving Day feast.

Those hustling school children are continuing with their bang-up job of selling bonds to assure themselves of free tickets to attend the big Kiddle Bond Show at Park Theatre Saturday morning, July 1. This affair is stimulating bond sales immensely and many hundreds of children will be in attendance to see Abbott and Costello in "Hit The Ice" when the doors open at 9:30.

Children are urged to take in their bond sales right away so that they will not be disappointed when the big day arrives. Any child of school age is eligible for his or her free ticket by merely being credited with a bond sale at the Park Theatre between now and July 1st.

The contest among children to be in the "Honored Six" to be taken on the jeep tour of the Rockland Naval Air Station is humming along at a rapid pace. Seated firmly in the first six places now are Jeanine Leach 17 sales, Helen Candage 10 sales, George Phillips 8 sales, Thomas Brown 6 sales, Bruce Stratton 5 sales, and a three way tie for sixth place between Patricia Cuthbertson, Sylvia Nelson, and Richard Dyer each with three sales.

Any child has an opportunity to climb right aboard the "Honored Six" band wagon during the next week by simply contacting his or her relatives, neighbors and other friend and asking them to give the boy or girl credit for their bond purchases at Park Theatre where bonds may be purchased day or night the entire week.

CHURCHES

SERMONETTE

United Baptist Convention

The annual meetings were held June 13, 14, 15 at the Court Street Baptist Church, Auburn, Rev. Ellis J. Holt, pastor.

This is a beautiful church with a fine auditorium. It was filled to capacity during most of the sessions. Rev. William H. Jones, D.D., president of the State Convention, presided. The host church and those of other faiths did everything to serve the crowded convention with entertainment, dinners, suppers and banquets. Auburn's Christian hospitality was at its best. This was indicated by the hearty greetings on behalf of the city by Mayor Green and on behalf of the Church by Rev. Ellis J. Holt. Dr. Jones made fitting response for the convention.

It is not possible, nor the intent of this article to review the three days' program. It is an inspiring sight to witness the working of a great denominational Convention, of any faith. Women's Committee, annual meeting of Baptist Women's Missionary Society, their speakers and luncheons are at the very heart of the whole convention. The annual meeting of the Ministers' Association and of the young people are events in themselves.

Rev. John W. Hysong, D. D. preached the annual sermon. The speakers from away delivered inspiring addresses—"The Light Still Shines in Eastern Asia" by Rev. William Axling, D.D.; "The Church and Human Needs" by Rev. Earl Frederick Adams, D.D.; "High Tides of Grace" Rev. William H. Wrighton. These are only some of the great themes touched upon by the Convention speakers.

This year's Convention presented the Baptists of Maine at their best. The officers elected face a great year in their service for the Redeemer.

But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins (then saith he to the sick of the palsy) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house. But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men." (Matthew 8:2, 6-8).

YOUR INVASION!

FROM General Bradley, leading the Invasion ground forces, right through every rank, American men now face a brutal, desperate, able enemy. For this invasion has only begun—before our fighters lies a hard and bloody task, one that demands all their courage, backed by all your faith in their ultimate victory.

That faith will be tested many times in this invasion—in grim struggles, setbacks, possibly even temporary defeats. It will be up to you to remember that early victories usually only mean more savage opposition from a foe made more bitter, more ruthless as the shadow of his doom grows larger—up to you to keep that faith in days and nights of gloom as well as in hours of triumph.

There is little that you can do to show that you realize what they must face, perhaps for many months. But one thing you can do—back the attack with every dollar you can spare! Let the Bonds you buy in this greatest of Drives be the measure of your belief in their ultimate victory!
